

Meet your NSCC award recipients for 2020-2021

Weeks Construction Community Award

S. W. Weeks Construction,

Through your commitment to Student Awards at NSCC, you are ensuring access to an education, that for many, wouldn't have been possible otherwise. You are showing students that in these uncertain and unprecedented times, their community is rooting for them. Your support is enabling them to continue on their path toward achieving their dreams of earning a meaningful career, supporting their families, and helping Nova Scotia flourish.

You are removing barriers, instilling confidence, and creating opportunities that change lives.

Your support makes an incredible impact. Thank you.

Weeks Construction Community Award Recipients

Rachel MacDonald
Practical Nursing
Pictou Campus

"This award will have such a large impact on my education. I am an independent and work very hard for what I have. I am very lucky to be attending NSCC and beyond grateful for awards such as this one. As we all know, schooling can be very hard to pay for especially when you are your own and only source of income. Awards such as this will be a great help to me and take less stress off of the financial part of schooling so that I can focus on the learning and enjoy the program and atmosphere I am in. I am beyond thankful and grateful for the opportunity to receive this award. It will be such a great help to me and it is very appreciated!"

Meet your NSCC award recipients for 2020-2021

Weeks Construction Community Award

Nathaniel Smith
Electronic Engineering Technician
Pictou Campus

“The award will help me pay for my education which will help me in lowering my overall education expenses and allowing me to stress less over my student debt. Which will help me stay focused on my studies. Knowing that these opportunities are available due to my past community involvement and grades not only in my first year but my ongoing years at NSCC will encourage me to continue to strive to stay involved in my community, work towards good grades as well as being involved in my school community. Thank you for the award, it was a great honour upon finding out, I was ecstatic, as well as grateful.”

Thank you, S.W. Weeks Construction, for leading the way for NSCC students.